API Documentation

The backend and frontend of the MMS app talk to each other using a REST API. This section of the documentation outlines the key endpoints required for making calls, to ensure consistency between front and back end teams